3 Jeriko Brick looked in good shape in the last race after an early gallop. Is well drawn and from the lead the five-year-old will be very difficult to beat. 6 No Talking You is back after a short break. In terms of capacity he is good for this type of race and will be in the fight for victory. 1 Waypoint Sequence has an interesting starting position and has to be considered if she finds an opening at last. 11 Earnest is strong and tough, but needs high pace from this starting position. Possible in that case.

6 Oliver Transs R. finished quickly when he found room last time. It was the second start after the break and his form has probably improved further and with the right trip from behind he will not be easy to resist. 5 Cashba was ahead of our pick in the last race and did well. Normally he is in the mix again. 7 Axios has two runs under his belt after a break and is rapidly approaching top form. 2 Humble Malt has been improved lately and should be considered from a good number.

7 Piraeus Boko was quite heavily backed last time in the V85, but the mare got stressed out by the false starts and galloped. This starting method is an advantage and this distance is the right one. Our pick! 5 Regina Håleryd has got a couple of runs under his belt and is getting better with each start. Quick behind the gate and if she finds the lead her chances will increase. 6 Remina finished quickly in the last race a bit behind the winner and is in great form today. 9 Pontiac Renka is consistent and reliable. Jepson for the first time is of course interesting.

11 Look At Me Sisu won an easy race in his comeback but the impression was really good. That start has probably improved his form a bit and he is our pick in an otherwise wide open race. 7 Bys Yubraj is not completely reliable, but if he avoids a mistake all the way he is good enough to solve this task - especially from the lead. 4 Fossens Wilma has not started since November but has good capacity for this company. 9 ComandandconquerS. has a run under his belt and should be considered despite this number.
