5 Last Dying Breath is a good horse that can open quickly from the start. He is undefeated over the short distance after two consecutive starts and we believe in another win. 2 Soleil d'Inverne got a good trip when he won last time out. He is good enough for this class with the right journey and should have a good place chance. 12 Grappelli has good capacity and likes to start behind the gate. In case of quick pace he can finish strongly. 11 Scorzone showed some capacity last year and if he is at his best, he could be an outsider.

7 Boulder Predator won easily in Boden just over a year ago. He is now making his second start and with a race under his belt after a break, he is our pick. 10 Lapland Iceman won in the front in February and as it looked like last time when he had energy left to finish fifth, the form remains good. 13 Abraxas has improved significantly and his last performance was impressive when he won easily. He should be considered in good form. 4 Governor Hoss has some ability when he is at his best and should not be overlooked.

9 Devils Tongue faced tough horses last year and showed that he has good capacity when he finished second at Solvalla in October behind Francesco Zet and ahead of the impressive Kentucky River. 4 M.T.Oberon is consistent and good and if the track surface suits him, he should make a strong effort. Contender. 2 Rossi Palema made a mistake in his second to last race, but showed at Umåker last time out that he was in good form when he won from the lead. 6 Double Trouble E.P can be a bit inconsistent, but he shouldn't be underestimated on a good day.

6 Visual Alert finished to a strong victory in February. The mare is now making her third start for this trainer and should be considered with decent chances. 4 Amie Ness has only finished worse than third on three occasions, with two of those being due to a gallop. She is chasing her sixth win and should be kept in mind. 12 A Knight's Victory is a sharp closer when she is on form, and with a good trip she can be dangerous in the stretch. 1 Icegirl L.A. was in good form when she won in Skellefteå last time out and should not be underestimated.
