

RACE 1Volt 1640

5 Giulietta Zet ended last year with a victory from the lead, and the four-year-old trained by Daniel Redén will be interesting to watch in the season debut now. 4 Lindy Pop has started well in new hands and won easily from the lead in the season debut, but didn't reach the same level last time. Quick starter and offensive journey. 11 Angel of Trix surprised with a gallop last time out but recovered nicely and was able to sprint to victory. In top form. 6 Bonnie Wibb has several podium finishes lately and is due for a win.

8 You to Class is a talent who has started the year in the best possible way with two easy victories. Hasn't been challenged yet and faces a tougher task today, but he looks really nice. 2 Immortal Doc had a good season as a three-year-old, earning SEK 684,000 without winning a race. Seasonal debut and an early choice based on his performances. 1 Global Embargo had a good finish last time out and has steadily developed with a couple of races under his belt. Should get a nice journey with this number one here. 6 Star Photo showed good strength in his winning races. Now in new hands.

2 Battuta Face made a very strong impression in a winning race earlier this winter. Galloped in the last start but that was mostly an accident. He's tough and can handle the distance.

1 King Chaos had trained well before the debut for a new trainer last time, but ruined it with a gallop. Good horse and interesting conditions here. Early contender.

10 Glen was tough in a win after a trip mostly outside the leader two starts ago. A horse with good peaks.

9 Doldis has been challenged hard and is tough. Seasonal debut but the horse has to be watched on his home track.

2 Feel No Pain was successful as a two-year-old, winning the Svampen race and earning over a million. She's quick off the mark and a likely front-runner over these good conditions. 1 For Real has started promisingly and pulled off a strong sprint to win last time out. A challenger. 5 Kitty Hawk won a couple of races as a two-year-old and with her speed as a weapon, we have respect. Now with a race under her belt after a break. Björn Goop is the driver. 6 Eleven As had a good race in her debut as a two-year-old and will be interesting in the season debut.

4 Sourire Frö earned over 1.5 million last year and ranked among the better ones in his age group. He's an all-round horse and not afraid of hard work either. The horse to beat. 2 Fortune Mearas showed fresh form in a wire-to-wire win last time out, and with the position for the lead, a tough challenger. Good conditions. 10 Dark Roadster has a lot of potential and at his best, a horse to respect. He's strong in the final sprint with the right trip. 5 Final Dream usually starts fast and is interesting in the season debut here. Will find it tough to win this, though.

2 Romanze has been impressive in her recent wins and it will be exciting to see her face tougher competition now. She likes offensive journeys. 4 Louis was impressive in his win from the front in his seasonal debut. He is well-positioned to challenge for the lead again and should be sharper with the race under his belt. 3 Gamin de Larre has shown sharp form this winter with four consecutive wins. Facing tougher competition now, but should be taken seriously. He is strong and likes a high pace. 12 Everglo Lemon has competed in very tough V75 races and is strong enough to win this.

9 Månlykke A.M. was as usual dominant among his Swedish competitors last year and took home another Swedish Championship gold in the autumn. Has now reloaded in the winter and has a great chance to win. 6 Oppgårdsdrängen is a horse that is expected to grow into the elite this season. He has been improving with two races after the winter break. 5 Tekno Jerven is as fast as he is tricky. He won despite a big mistake last time and is always a horse to watch out for. 1 Bäcklös Uriel has returned to what he promised as a young horse. Four wins out of five races this year.

4 Laredo Boko improved throughout last year and earned a lot of money after successes within V75. He is tough enough to climb up the classes. 2 Robthebank will also be highly interesting to watch in his seasonal debut. He had a strong last year and has developed a lot. Magnus A Djuse now. 5 Twigs Honor is a horse in form compared to his toughest competitors. He can gain an advantage with his quick start and won last time from the front. 3 Mizai showed towards the end of last year that he can compete in V75 contexts. On the way up.

1 Miss Jaja had few successes last year, but in France this winter she has improved significantly. She was very good as a runner-up last time after an offensive journey. 10 O'Mara Zon was supposed to make her seasonal debut earlier but had to be scratched due to lameness. She has now reloaded and can be counted on based on what she showed last year. 5 Kayla Westwood was also one of the best among the fillies last year. She had to do the tough work in her seasonal debut last time and is better now with a race under her belt. 4 Decision Maker finished with a big plus last time. A warning!

4 Onion San Tooma has started climbing the ranks and had several very nice performances in tough competition under trainer Daniel Redén in the autumn. It's his seasonal debut and faces nice conditions. 11 Kia Ora also had successes last year and her trainer Oskar Kylin Bloom has a horse that can challenge for the win. 14 Iceland Falls earned over a million in prize money last year and has shown that she can compete with the best mares in Sweden. A tough task from the double handicap mark. 3 Kathrine S.H. showed promise in the autumn with a V75 win among other things. Also an interesting contender.

3 Caviar From Mine has shown a very good attitude in two starts and it has been enough for good placings as well. Certainly improved a lot by those runs. 5 Kiwee was tough in victory outside the leader in the debut and is now seeking revenge for a disappointing break last time out as a big favorite. 4 Carlos Diamant is a good type who defended himself nicely to win on debut. Debut behind the gate and could challenge. 6 Kingdom Come is a good type who did not perform well in the debut. He has had more time to improve and should be better now.
