4 Picasso looked to have energy left in the last turn last time out when he galloped. He had been doing the job outside the leader all the way, so his form is good. 5 Premiär Tooma showed an upward trend already two starts ago and then took a well-deserved win. Will challenge for top spots here as well. 7 Bøgdis O.S. had a nice trip in the back of the leader last time out and decided when the opening came. Not out of it but needs some luck from the outside post. 3 South Valley May comes with two straight second places. Good position and should not be underestimated.

3 Jazzlyne Exclusive has started her career with two wins out of three starts. The competition gets tougher and she faces quite tough conditions money-wise, but still a first pick. 9 Chamør makes an interesting comeback. She hasn't raced since August and may need the race, but has potential. 7 Double Copy did well as second in her comeback two starts ago, but then made a mistake at the start in the next one. If she's faultless, she has the speed to be competitive. 2 Barcelona Broline did not impress in the last seasonal debut, but should improve with the race under her belt.

12 Luckyblackmagic S.C. finished well to second last time out. Got the worst post position now, but if things go reasonably well, she has a decent chance. 3 Rönnerdahl has developed nicely this year and was quite brave from the lead last time. Moving up in class a bit, but the post position is suitable. 10 Quite Perfect had to do a lot of work outside the leader last time and held on strongly. A consistent and reliable horse that is good enough here. 4 Shiny Night has the potential to do better than what she has shown lately. An outsider from this post position.

4 Boh Erre is a winning machine who won eleven out of 14 starts last year. Was defeated just before the finish line last time from the lead, but here we expect him to take revenge. 9 Gentletron is clearly the main challenger to the favorite. However, not at his best last time and this number is tricky. 1 The Baron is quick on his feet and is likely to be pushed as much as possible from the inside post. Should show up among the top three here. 8 Only Be Kind To Me did not perform at his best last time. A good finish as a runner-up two starts ago. An outsider with the right journey.

3 Gandhi has looked good in his recent victories. He is a strong and tough horse who has no problem with the distance. An interesting task here. 10 Boke Palema was a bit unlucky on Solvalla last time out. He prefers fast pace throughout the race. 11 Strong Vacation has an improving form. It has been a long time since he started with the circular start, and he is likely to beat many with the right trip here. 8 Delicious Me returns after a short break. He can handle the distance and could be a surprise with the right journey now.

8 Ard was heavily backed last time out, but he didn't look his best in the warming-up. He pulled himself together and was decent as second. He gets a new chance now - our top pick. 4 Brenne Røn was unlucky in the last race. Now the position is suitable and he can open quickly behind the gate. He should be counted early. 10 Grisle Tore G.L. is a bit up and down, but his finish last time was strong. In case of fast pace, he'll beat many at the end. 7 Horgen Lynet did not convince last time. Could cause a surprise with the right journey.

6 Patrick Palema has been very convincing in his two wins on Norwegian soil. Even though he drew a bit wide on the wing now, we have good faith that he will beat these opponents at the end. 5 Frazze is a nice type who should improve with each start. Jörgen S Eriksson is not making the trip to Klosterskogen for nothing. 2 Maybe Maven took an easy win in his season debut. He faces nice conditions money-wise and has been targeted for this race. 1 Grand Yankee is in good form and has a nice position - a possible contender for a place with some luck.

7 Tangen Bork has started the year with two wins and looked really good last time out at Bjerke. Despite getting a somewhat wide post position this time, we believe he has a great chance to win again. 5 Järvsöodin has had a good winter and is now chasing his third straight win. The post position feels suitable and he is an early contender behind our top pick. 9 Stumne Fyr was second behind Tangen Bork last time out and has a chance to do it again if things go well from the back post. 8 Grisle Odin G.L. was not at his best on Romme on December 17th and is now returning after a training period.

4 I.D. Exceptional won easily from the lead on Charlottenlund two starts ago. We expect him to have a good chance of getting the lead here as well, which is why he is our top pick. 9 Skate Trix likes to attack from behind, so the post position doesn't have to be a big deal. He won nicely against an easier field last time out - an early contender. 3 Marengo had a very good debut for his new trainer last time out. He should normally be even sharper with that race under his belt. 8 Grumbazz Kini has earned the least in the race, but has also had some bad luck.

1 Herecomes Gardenia won at Klosterskogen two starts ago and was still very good last time after a tough trip - likely to lead for a long way. 6 Pandora Trot has won seven out of eleven races so far. This is her first start for a new trainer, and even though the competition is tougher now, she should be counted on. 3 Looklike Superb always performs well and has only once failed to finish in the top three in ten starts. Should be considered again. 13 Lazy Beach did well in her seasonal debut at Åby. She took an easy victory on the corresponding racing day last year.

2 Z. Boko couldn't hold the lead from the inside post last time out but finished well when he find room. Good form and this number is nice. 3 Hell Patrol couldn't catch the leader in the V75 final at Solvalla, but still looked to be in good form and is an early contender. 4 Zaffiro Jet had a hopeless post position at Halmstad last time, so we'll forget that race. With a better post now, he should be considered here. 1 Belker is hard to predict after his time in France and for a new trainer. Is good for this class.

Has a decent chance to be second again here. 10 Zander Solo won in his seasonal debut last time and should be even better with that race under his belt. Can beat many with the right trip. 2 Tverdals Modina is consistent but has yet to win this year. Mainly a place chance here.
