3 Fibonacci Font impressed in his debut when he won in a really nice time. He faces a really good opponent this time, but has got a better lane and is our favorite. 8 Nikola Wibb is the main challenger. Just like our pick , he was very good in his debut as he won comfortably. Certainly improved by that run under his belt. 5 Asgoodasitgets just gets better and better. 12 Paceonearth is extremely well-bred. Got a defensive trip in the last race. Needs some luck from here.

4 In The Wind Gar was good in his debut as second, but galloped as heavily backed at Jägersro last time. Seems promising and from a nice lane behind the gate he should reach a good position. Our winner. 8 Conrads Jane finished second behind impossible Cruiser in the last race. Poor lane, but has shown good skills. 7 All Dimensions scored a good win in the debut. Possible without a mistake. 1 City Slicker is perfectly drawn. Needs some racing luck here.

10 Luv You Schermer showed really nice capacity for Magnus A Djuse and Susanne Frang in 2023, but has had problems since then. Is the best horse in this field but the form is hard to predict. 12 Albacete was good last time. Poor lane, but is matched against good opponents. Barefoot and American bike this time. 6 Ackuratess was nice in the last comeback race and likes the short distance. 9 Aventador S.F. is interesting barefoot.

3 Mattex has done well lately and is better than the results show. Energy left in the last race and has shown really good starting speed. Should be considered regardless of position. 9 No Doubt Boko failed in the last race, but was even better before that. Early choice but needs some racing luck. 5 One And Only is not bad and has a couple of runs under his belt after a short layoff. American bike and Jepson now. Interesting. 10 Dufresne is not entirely reliable but has good speed.

5 Ever Forever Gar has been consistent and good. Got quite a tough journey last time, but still decided easily. Tougher opponents this time, but has shown great strength. 4 Coolman Evo hasn't convinced this year, but is a really good four-year-old. Better form than the results show. Contender. 6 Magic In has good capacity but not been at his best lately. Early choice without a mistake. 2 My Honky Tonk Man has a run under his belt for Daniel Redén.

3 VilliamSon B.B. scored an impressive win two starts back and had plenty of energy left from the pocket last time. Is working well and he is aiming for the lead. Good chance from there. 5 Nebraska Lobell wins often and has been at least third in ten starts this year and is now making his debut for Paul Hagoort. He is strong and an early choice here. 4 Grey Market came back well after an early gallop in the last race. 9 Diamond Jackie uses to finish fast.

6 Mellby Narrow has been improved in the last two starts barefoot. Used to prefer to run in the lead but lately he has shown that he is also good from behind. 3 Hiram has never won but been matched in very tough companies most of the time. From the best lane he has a good chance to take the lead. 5 Pele Boko was splendid last year but has not been as good this season. Now he faces easier opponents. 8 Muzan Kibutsuji looks to be on the way up and the Hagoort stable is very pleased.

6 Global Got It All has finished second and third in both E3 finals this year and shown that she belongs to the best horses of her year. Has a good chance of finding the lead, but has also won from other positions. Looks like a good chance of winning. 4 Sparkling Power sprinted fast two starts back but galloped twice in the last Oaks heat. Showed nice speed in between the gallops. 7 Popup Pellini got an inside trip in the last Oaks heat and after a late opening she finished fast. 9 Västerbo Carretera has been consistent and good most of the time.
