3 Galleon has been consistent and good for a while without winning. Nice number and overall the task looks quite nice. 12 Global Freeway has a difficult starting position, but is normally a strong finisher and with the right journey, he could be in the mix. 1 Lejo has good skills, but doesn't always trot well. He has to be considered early without a mistake. 11 Howtobehave W.F. is in better form than the results show and will score a victory soon.

1 Eldfell can hardly defend the inner lane, but in terms of capacity the four-year-old is good for this company. Our pick. 4 Konnässör galloped last time, but is normally reliable. Would benefit from high pace and with the right trip from behind, the horse has to be considered. 10 Wing Profile is a bit up and down and if the mare lives up to her capacity, she is good enough to win. 3 Raj Raj Raj will compete bare-foot and without shoes he has taken all three wins. In the mix here.

7 Önas Tindra didn't get it right last time. That was V85 and now that the mare is entering a regular lunch race she should of course be seen with good chances. 11 Don't Thell Me has documented top form and will be a contender despite his back draw line. 6 Credityuan is undefeated in the lead after three heat and will track the race for a long time. 3 Summernight Devil was clearly improved in the last race. He won easily and with a similar effort now he will be able to be good enough another in the mix.

5 Hercules Godiva is coming back after a break, but is training well ahead of his comeback. Despite the lack of races, the six-year-old should be seen as a top chance to finish the V4 epilogue. 4 Elmer Wibb should have won the last race to get a full pass. Good for this type of race. Fighting for victory. 6 Longfellow has two run under his belt after a long break and is starting to get closer to form. Normally far ahead. 12 Ajlexes Hans is best in the lead, but should not be underestimated for his high basic ability.
