6 Hå Kaiser is getting stronger and strong. Scored a very good win two starts back and was good as second too despite a mistake. Will face some good competitors here but is tough and should have a good chance to score another win. 5 Monsa Traven has galloped twice in a row but had shown good capacity before that. 4 Trø Hav is quick and should be reach a good position from the start. 1 Kom Konge is doing well and has been consistent.

2 Lynet Mcqueen has been consistent and good lately. Was strong the last race and should normally be considered very early from a perfect starting position. 1 L.H.Cepheus is a quick starter and scored a nice win in the last race. Likes this distance and is an early challenger. 7 A View To A Kill is getting better and better with each start. The American bike this time is interesting. 6 Jolin Southwind has good potential and is possible too here. Needs some racing luck though.

9 Voje Hero scored a really good win last time when he found the lead after a while and took revenge on Skeie Blesen from the previous race. Will be heavily backed and should have a good chance. Can do it tough. 7 Skeie Blesen was splendid two starts back and won from first over but got defeated in the last race. Still an early choice. 11 Voje Viljar has done well from tricky starting positions lately. 4 Rapp Are is consistent and good. Most interesting horse in the first circle.

3 Proper Energy has been very convincing lately and apart from two starts back the horse has scored many wins. Quick starter and with a lane inside the main rival, he has a good chance to find the lead after a while. Once there the horse will be hard to beat. 4 Resilient Reddington is probably as good as our pick in terms of capacity, but faces tougher conditions this time. 2 Cadillac Star is a quick starter and could find the pocket. 6 Malabar Sun is a winning machine. Tougher now.

1 Bare Mattis returns after a short layoff. Finished third last time in much tougher company than this and as long as his form hasn't been affected too much by the break he should have an excellent chance of winning. Can do it tough too. 6 Åsvinn SK scored a good win in the last Swedish V75 race. Might prefer to race in Sweden but is an early challenger. 4 Il Salvador is speedy. 5 Aner Ikke has been consistent and good most of the time.

7 Genius finished well as second behind Cool Hand Energy in the last race. Goes for the front here? Good chance. 1 Cool Hand Energy does not always trot well, but has high capacity. Can take a fifth win in a row, but faces good and tough opponents here. The lane can also be a trap since he is not a very quick starter. 2 Sioux Kung X. is a quick starter and will certainly reach a good position. American bike this time. 10 Oksamit W.H. is possible but needs some racing luck. Will sprint fast in case of over-pace.
