7 Engine Kronos has been up and down throughout his career, but at his highest peaks he showed enormous capacity for this class. Is working really well and we expect a top performance. 9 Filling Fuel finished really fast in a tough V85 race last time and showed full form. In case of quick pace he will spurt strongly. 1 Ja Ba Da Ba Doooo has been matched in tough companies and is now going down in class. Quick starter and has several tactical possibilities. 3 Like Magic Sisu shows good form. Some interesting changes now.

5 Oh Mogen shows enormous capacity for this class. The four-year-old has been at least second without a mistake and can do it tough. In this field he should have top chance as long as he does not gallop. 2 Risårigel has two wins and two third places in four starts for the new trainer. His form is top and even if the opposition gets tougher he has to be considered behind the favorite early on. 6 Lome Hilda scored a nice win in the lead in the last race. Longer distance now, but the form is still good. Quick starter and early choice. 11 Forsvilja is consistent and good – place bet.

1 King Of Djazz was very eager in the lead over the full distance last time and got defeated the big favorite. Shorter distance now and the eight-year-old is well drawn. Good chance to lead this throughout. 7 Zaxton never got a chance as he got locked in last time. The six year old could get a tough journey but is an early choice anyway in this field. 2 Mizai has not lived up to his full capacity for a while but is possible anyway here. August Zonett finished well in a very tough race where elite horse Dream Mine won.

He faces easier opposition here. 13 Conrads Palle is used to tough conditions in the central part of Sweden and now makes a very interesting debut in the north. 9 M.T.Rick Nash is consistent and good – place bet.
