3 Mr Mah Can is super capable and finally worked again on the right balance and with slightly changed routines. You obviously do the same this time and he has a reasonable chance to break into the lead and stay there all around. The last time he had a good draw behind the car and worked, he answered Unico Broline for a bit in the Gold Division before being released. 1 King Of Everything looked great all day last and finished strongly via 1.11s 1000m behind It's Peppertime. Have a nice trip again and join in making up for it. 4 Friend Of Elves is colossally speedy and finished sensibly last in the sky mouth. He doesn't win very often but is well placed and has the right task together with Magnus Djuse here. possible.

4 Queen Of The Night debuted for Mattias Djuse last time and finished strongly after a difficult trip behind a good horse. The feeling is that she must have progressed a lot with that race and if she just fixes the start, we are confident that she can even be driven to the early lead and then it is the horse to beat. 6 Global Excellence was the talk of the town last time and he sat well when the gallop was to be entered in the last turn - it looked like second place was going up in smoke. At least he got a run under his belt and showed form and now he is greatly ease to the first barefoot all around. On the other hand, he feels that it is difficult to assess his starting speed. 13 Kaiser Mearas started as trusted in a criterion qualification last time and steps down classes in opposition. But he makes his annual debut from additions with shoes and a normal carriage and may not drive excessively offensively even if the stable is in great form and the preparations have been good.

4 Caradja gets the our pick in the final sprint race. She is not that bad this one and was excused last time in the lead after a tough and jerky race. Now she is training hard and you are pulling gears in the form of first barefoot all around and first closed in this direction. She is our lead favorite again and over the short race at Örebro she is the fun move. 5 A Sniper isn't that crazy either and Djuse sounds happy with his horse. However, we doubt that you will get past our tipsetta from the start and that clouds the picture. 9 Putte is probably the best horse, but it sounds like an ordinary carriage and a nice set-up and then it is never easy from the back draw line on a card at Örebro.
