1 Eld Prinsen wins often and has taken 15 victories in 25 starts. Has not won in the last four starts, but the opposition is getting tougher and he has been strong anyway. 7 Zargo is the one with the best speed in the field. If the horse is in the mood and focuses on the right things, he will probably be in the mix here. 6 Brenne Rön is perhaps most effective over the short distance. 3 Fräcke Prins is not that bad in regarding speed.

7 Sigel End won in his first race and did it in a strong way. Looks promising and could reach the front just like in the debut. 10 Flash Express has a completely different routine than our pick, but is 20 meter behind which is not easy. Has a run under his belt after a long layoff. 9 Good Habit is really nice and Henrik Svensson should have some hopes for the future. 6 Global Guru scored a nice win two starts back, but was not as good at all in the last race.

2 Olivia Hazelaar is an interesting new horse for Tomas Pettersson. Met some tough opponents in the Netherlands last time, but this is a nice strong horse that certainly needed that run under his belt. Interesting task. 8 Bilbao Ace faces quite tough conditions in this race, but it cannot be ignored that the mare has developed and is doing really well. 11 Enery Kronos has done well from poor numbers lately. 10 Rupie competes barefoot again and that is an advantage.

9 From The Hip is still without a win so far this year, but the horse has still put in a couple of strong efforts. Has mostly been in much tougher companies lately. Should have top chance here. 3 Overload' Em likes keep a steady pace in order to not invite the horses with a handicap. 8 Lizmark is matched in good company this year but does not win that often. 7 Mister Twister has made three starts for the new trainer and done well.

9 Jonases Ninja finished third last time and that was against much better competition than she is facing this time. Jan-Olov Åberg's horses have been improved a lot this year. 5 Lokatt does not have an optimal lane, but if it just works out reasonably well from the start, Linda S Hedström's trotter is strong enough to win this one even with a tougher journey. 8 Helia perhaps owns the best speed in this race, but she is anything but easy. 7 Sol Bris is consistent and good.

2 Global Badman meets good competitors every time and does well. Has to be considered early. 3 Grand Ready Cash has really done well in tough fields and become stronger. On the way up and this task looks exciting. 8 Cash Bank Bigi has got a tricky number, but with some racing luck the mare could become dangerous at last. 10 Zaxton has perhaps not shown top form lately but has been in tough companies. Possible in case of over-pace.
