

RACE 1

Volt 2140

13 Remlov was impressive in his debut. He was driven to the lead early on and won the race very easily in fine style. He comes from a top pedigree and is a clear top pick here. 2 Kringlers Attila is only three years old and is making his first start here. He handled the qualifying race nicely and finished in a good time. 11 Tekno Perla shows good speed but is not reliable. She was the fastest of all over the home stretch in her last race and missed the win by a nose. 14 Langlands Stina has been putting in solid performances so far. She did well to finish third over a long distance in her last race.

11 Benzema has been performing well in ridden races. He won his seasonal debut in a good manner. Has not raced for a while but is good for this class. 7 New Yankee has only started three times under the saddle but he has done well in all of them. He will have the skilled Helene Kolle on his back, who dominates this discipline in Norway. 8 Quinzy Roy is inexperienced in this discipline. However, he showed very good speed after a mistake two starts back, and if he stays faultless, he can be dangerous here. 6 Strong Lover is making a comeback after a long absence. If he is in good form right away, he will be a contender.

14 Global Black Money is the best horse in this race. She has run two races after a long absence and will get better with each start. She has earlier done well in the V75 and is our winner here. 5 Pewdiepie is our clear second choice. He faced tough competition in his last race and performed very well. 6 La Moss did really well to finish second at Momarken on March 29th. However, he is not reliable. If he avoids a mistake, he should be in the mix. 9 Grand Maxim is really good every now and then, but he failed in the last race.

1 Ramos is unbeaten after four starts and has shown the right attitude. He could very well win this race as well. A strong contender. 10 U.S.Marines is a capable guest from Norway. He has now run two races after a long break and finished well to second in his last race. 11 Loke Lovebite finished fifth in the V75 last time out and had won two straight races before that, with the current driver. Early contender. 6 Mayhem Mary was in contention for the win before galloping about 300 meters from the finish line in her last race. She finished well to third in the race before that.

11 Jalapeno K. was impressive when winning at Åby in July and finished well to third in a tough race last time out. Our winner in this comeback. 9 Ina Jaam had good performances with a win and a second place finish in October. She can do it tough and is an early choice directly after the pause. 10 Thebe Victory has won two of his four career starts. He won convincingly from the front in his last race after a slightly longer pause. 1 Waltz d'Estino has not raced in a while, but gave a good impression when winning both of his starts last year (outstanding on April 25th).

6 Asakstjerne started the year with three straight wins. Scored a good third spot two starts back and didn't get a real chance last time out. 5 Aske Faks has won four of his ten starts. Finished strongly to fourth last time out and should be considered early here. 7 Kolbu Prinsen won over the same distance last time out, and finished to a close victory then. Will have Jepson in the sulky this time. 1 Eik Best is a capable trotter with a good starting position. Scored a good win over the short distance on March 2.

12 D.J.Spritz has won two of his four starts for trainer Dahlén. He scored an outstanding victory despite a tough trip last time out and will have Goop in the sulky now. 6 Theycallmesixten is back after a break. He has shown that he can compete at this level in V75 races and has a good starting position behind the gate. 4 Thai Manhattan was fourth after a good trip last time out. The race before, he won very easily from the front and he has some ability. 1 M.T.On Target has previously raced once at the current track (July 15) and won convincingly from the lead then.

7 Oh Ah Kennedy is a bit up and down, but performs well on a good day. Won convincingly last time out, and is the top pick here. 2 Easter Valley won comfortably despite a tough trip on February 23rd, and performed well to finish fourth in the last V75 race. Could be an early contender here. 5 Dr Martin won directly after a break last time out. Has three career victories, all taken from the front. 4 Helacs Theluji doesn't win very often, but has shown some ability. Finished second as a favourite at Solvalla on October 23rd and has one race under his belt after a break.

Volt 2140

14 Guli Fantom had seven consecutive wins before the last V75 race (galloped in the lead on the last backstretch, heavily pressed). With Goop driving now, he is the top pick. 10 Ask Leo finished strongly to third after a good trip last time out, won easily on March 29 and must be ranked high this time. 6 Tyri Leo is a solid trotter with a good starting position. With a new driver, he will probably be in the mix here. 13 Alltid Ö.K. is not completely reliable, but capable and showed great form after an early mistake last time.

RACE 10, GS75-7

Volt 2140

7 Oxidizer won in an easier company last time out, but still showed a good performance (had to withstand very tough pressure in the lead). 1 Suarez is a capable horse with a good attitude. Has had a race after the long layoff and made a mistake in the last turn then. 12 Vagabond Bi is a very talented horse and used to facing tough competition. Will likely pass most of the horses this time, maybe even all of them. 9 Bear Hope doesn't always convince, but can do a lot. Comes from victory and won despite a double handicap. Should not be underestimated.
