3 Laredo Boko competed in France during the winter and has certainly become tougher. He has got a pause, but has earlier won in two out of five races after a longer break. 2 Stenson did well after a break of a couple of months last time. Better now with a run under the belt. 6 Under Armour had a good season last year and earned almost 500,000 SEK. Certainly well prepared for this seasonal debut. 7 Even Steven is gifted, but Flemming Jensen does not sound too optimistic.

3 Cooper TM comes from a strong effort but could not challenge a superior winner who pressed him during the final lap. He is fast from the start and should have a good chance from the front. 7 Handsome Diamond has delivered well in every start and won four of eight starts so far. Has good capacity for this field and can do it tough too. 2 Muro Beach Pellini was approved last time against tougher opponents than these. 6 Dream Alliance will compete barefoot directly after the layoff.

3 Blackhawk Face is very talented, but does not trot perfectly. This circular start is a big question mark, but if he avoids a mistake, he should have top chance. 7 Azzurro is also good for this class but much more reliable. Most recently, however, he failed as a big favorite. Could take revenge directly here. 4 Ilex PR is very consistent and good and followed strongly from first over last time. 5 Musketeer was not at his best barefoot last time. Good for this class, but still has not won.

1 Gustav Simoni is by far the best horse in this company. The six-year-old has only started fifteen times, but has shown a high level in his few starts. He has started the year well, can open fast and lane one at Jägersro a big advantage. Good chance. 3 Random Tile is a serious challenger if she is at her best. Barefoot now and that is a big advantage for her. 9 Faetter Filur has started the year promisingly for the new trainer. 7 Enginge Wash is at his best when he can save the speed as long as possible.

3 Devs Donator has taken six of his career's seven victories from the front and will now also compete barefoot. From the lead, he should have a good chance to score the eighth victory so far. 6 All The Way Cal is consistent and good. The Wilhem Paal stable is in good shape and they deserve a victory here. 7 Esperanza SSG had to open very fast last time. With the right trip from the back this time, the horse should have good place chance here. 1 That's So Clever will get a nice trip here and with an opening in time the horse can finish fast.

4 Herbie Peak was brilliant from the lead last time. He had then paused before that and is very likely improved now with that run under his belt. 1 Aramis Face prefers the short distance and likes to run in the front at quick pace. If he lives up to his capacity, he can lead this throughout. 9 Al Pacino looked nice in a mediocre race last time. Would prefer over-pace here. 8 Man U faces nice conditions money-wise, but needs some racing luck with this starting number.
